HISTORIC Dunn County

THE KNAPP, STOUT & CO., COMPANY

From 1871 to 1896, the Knapp, Stout & Co. company sent an average 85 million board feet of lumber down the Red Cedar River, Chippewa and Mississippi Rivers to St. Louis. The company operated a flotilla of steamboats that guided rafts down the rivers and supplied various company enterprises on the return trip.

During the 1880's, the operation continued to expand, buying land and mills in Wisconsin, Missouri, Arkansas and Mississippi. They had offices and yards at Dubuque, Iowa and Read's Landing, Minnesota, and St. Louis, Missouri. By the end of the century the pinery was nearly depleted. Between 1883 and 1900, the Knapp, Stout & Co., Company sold off nearly 275,000 acres and shifted their attention to the forests of Arkansas and Missouri. Several of the owners had made their homes in Menomonie, where they left their lasting marks on the area's history.

Wilson, Tainter, Knapp and Stout - the names that appeared in yesterday's social page are today associated with many of Menomonie's buildings, streets and institutions. While they reaped fortunes from the forests, these men contributed much to the communities as well. They established the first schools in Dunn and Barron counties. Wilson and Knapp contributed heavily to churches. Captain Tainter built and endowed a civic center as a memorial to his daughter Mabel that serves the community to this day. James Huff Stout, Henry's son, used his fortune to establish what has evolved into the University of Wisconsin-Stout and other civic projects.

Photos and information provided by the Dunn County Historical Society, www.dunnhistory.org.

The company that evolved into the Knapp, Stout & Co., Company began operations in 1846. William Wilson and John Holly Knapp bought a small mill on the Red Cedar River from David Black. Black retained some interest in the mill and it was known as Black & Knapp until 1850. When Henry Stout bought an interest in 1853, the name was changed to Knapp, Stout & Company. This operation became the nucleus of activity for the region. By 1870, the company had control of the Red Cedar River valley and in 1878 they incorporated as the Knapp, Stout & Co., Company. Crews moved through the wilderness, cutting the virgin timber and preparing it for its river voyage. Pioneers followed, removing stumps and preparing the rich land for farming.

KNAPP, STOUT, & CO. OPEN MILL IN DOWNSVILLE

Downsville, (Dunn County) Wisconsin, 1897 Knapp, Stout, & Company mill. On June 22, 1855, Ebenezer Thompson began a mill here, cutting a short ditch across a bend in the Red Cedar River to form a mill race. In a short time, high water enlarged the ditch until it became a main channel. February 24, 1858, Mr. Thompson deeded the interest to Capt. B. B. Downs who made such improvements as the dam, and enlarging the operation. The town grew up almost solely around the sawmill and was consequently named after Downs. At sometime between 1858 and 1883 the mill was sold to Knapp, Stout, & Company, the date of sale not being recorded, but the Dunn County history does mention that after a big flood of 1883, Knapp, Stout, & Company asked Capt.

Downs to return to town and see if he could rebuild the dam for them, which he did. Knapp, Stout, & Company also built a boarding house and company store for the mill workers. The mill was closed in 1900 and then torn down soon after.

DESIGN OF TAITER GATE

In 1862, Jeremiah Burnham Tainter was 26 when he came to Menomonie to work in the Knapp- Stout mills. Jeremiah had a talent for designing water control devices to be used on the Red Cedar River and tributaries within the company's territory. In 1886, the company needed a water control device that would almost instantly release enough water from the mill pond to allow the ponderous "Red River strings" of lumber to float down to Dunnville and the larger Chippewa River. Today, the Tainter Gate is used in water control dams and locks throughout the world. There are 321 Tainter Gates on the dams and locks of the upper Mississippi River Basin from Minneapolis to St. Louis. Tainter's gate succeeded because he cleverly designed it so that the rush of water helped both to open and close the gates with a minimum of manpower.

There are 195 Tainter Gates in the Columbia River Basin on 26 dams, including the Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams. The gates are in use in Holland, Switzerland, Italy, and many other countries. Information provided by the Dunn County Historical Society, www.dunnhistory.org.

To learn more about Menomonie & Dunn County history visit the Russell J. Rassbach Heritage Museum. Information provided by:

Communities sprang up around the company's dams and mill sites at Cedar Falls, Downsville, Prairie Farm and others. Menomonie became a major trading site, headquarters for the company's regional activities. At its height, the company employed more than 2,000 in Menomonie and the surrounding area. In Menomonie alone, the company had lumber mills, stables, a store, machine shop, blacksmith shop, grain warehouse and grist mill. This was merely the hub of an empire, which reached north to the headwaters of the Red Cedar River and its tributaries, lumber mills and retail outlets along the west bank of the Mississippi River, as far south as St. Louis. The company owned extensive farms and great stretches of timberland in the flowage of the Red Cedar River.

HISTORIC DOWNTOWN

Menomonie's Historical Downtown boasts many structures from the late 1800s. Easy to find, Historic Downtown is nestled right in the middle of the City of Menomonie, where Hwy 25, Hwy 29, and Hwy 12 meet. You'll also be embraced by the UW Stout campus while enjoying our downtown. Stop by the Menomonie Area Chamber of Commerce and Visitor Center to find the latest news on local activities and events. For more information, visit www.menomoniechamber.org or www.exploremenomonie.com.

Chippewa River Ferries

At one time or another, six ferries operated on the Chippewa River in southeast Dunn County. The Caryville and Meridean Ferries were the last of these in operation and ran from 1910 to 1964. Shown here is the ferry at Caryville, date unknown. Visitors to Dunn County can view the scenic river from the Chippewa River Trail from Eau Claire which connects with the Red Cedar State Trail from Menomonie. The two trails combine for 37.5 miles between Eau Claire and Menomonie.

Menomonie Blue Caps: Keep History Alive

There was a time that America's favorite pastime had found its way into most communities in the county, large or small. Teams began to form here in the early 1870s. The Menomonie Blue Caps, shown here in 1904, were a popular team from 1882 up until the 1940s when WWII depleted their roster. Today, a revived Blue Caps vintage base ball club, sponsored by the Dunn County Historical Society, attracts teams and visitors from across the midwest to its annual Menomonie Base Ball Festival.

The Menomonie Blue Caps vintage baseball team was established in 2012, 71 years after the original Blue Caps last played, to educate the community about the origins of our national pastime. The Blue Caps are fashioned after the team of the same name who were a highly successful amateur club from 1882 to 1941. The team is a member of the Vintage Baseball Association. The Menomonie Blue Caps vintage baseball team is operated by the Dunn County Historical Society, located in Menomonie, Wisconsin. The team plays by 1860 rules, using replica equipment and uniforms. For a schedule of games, visit www.dunnhistory.org.

Stout Schools

domestic science within the Menomonie schools' curriculum into the University of Wisconsin-Stout, Wisconsin's Polytechnic University. Known today as Bowman Hall, the iconic training school building is still a prominent part of Menomonie's skyline. The building recently received a $8.95 million renovation and looks nearly as it did when it was completed in the spring of 1898.

Hilkrest School

The Hilkrest School, shown here circa 1931-32, served families in the Town of Sherman northwest of Menomonie from the early 1870s until it closed its doors in 1962. The one-room school was one of 145 that served Dunn County before consolidation. Visitors today can tour the school on the campus of the Rassbach Heritage Museum in Menomonie's Wakanda Park.

Louis Smith Tainter House

What began as a wedding gift in 1890, today serves as a welcoming point for friends and visitors to the University of Wisconsin-Stout. The year before James Huff Stout founded his school, lumber baron Captain Andrew Tainter and his wife Bertha had a three-story mansion built as a wedding gift for their son Louis and his wife Effie, for approximately $75,000. The home was designed by Harvey Ellis, an architect known for his influence on 19th century Midwestern architecture, using a style termed Richardsonian Romanesque. The mansion, south of the current Lake Menomin bridge, boasts an exterior of Dunnville sandstone, quarried just ten miles south of Menomonie. A slate roof with copper eaves and gutters originally capped the house. The roof has since been replaced with modern materials. The interior displays the wealth of the family and includes extensive use of various exotic woods, such as Honduran mahogany, sycamore, maple and birch. The couple lived in the home from 1890 until 1902, when Louis left to join a lumber company in California. Another lumbering family, the Wilsons, owned the home until 1940. The family intended to turn over the property to the Stout Institute, but the property was seized by Dunn County for $100 owed in back taxes. The Stout Institute purchased the house in 1945 for $9,000 using funds from the Eichelberger legacy, an endowment from a wealthy Horicon, Wis., family. The building was renamed Eichelberger Hall and became a women's dormitory. From 1967 to 1974, the building served as office space for the vocational rehabilitation program. At that time the university determined that restoration would be appropriate and the building was entered on the National Register of Historic Places. Now, more than a century after its construction, the building is known as the Louis Smith Tainter House, and houses the Stout Alumni Association and the Stout University Foundation.

Brick Manufacturing offer seasonal employment

Beginning in the 1860s, brick manufacturing was established in the rich clay hills west of the city of Menomonie and provided seasonal jobs often filled by workers from the Knapp, Stout and Co. Company. At one time six brickyards operated just outside the city and three more yards operated further north and northwest in the county. Shown here is a crew at the Wisconsin Red Pressed Brick Company, circa 1912. Visitors to Menomonie's historic downtown need only look around to see the output of these yards used extensively in the city's distinctive architecture.

Omaha Train Depot, NOW Brewery!

A crowd gathers at the Omaha Depot on July 16, 1918 to see off drafted soldiers departing Menomonie for World War I. Located on Menomonie's west side, the restored depot is once again a gathering place as home to brewery nomic, a craft brewery. The depot was built in 1906, designed by nationally-recognized architect Horace P. Padley and served passengers until 1961.

Mabel Tainter Theatre

MENOMONIE THEATRE GUILD

In December 1958, a group of citizens concerned with the preservation of the Mabel Tainter Theater came together and created the Menomonie Theater Guild. To date, the Guild is the oldest existing community theater organization in Western Wisconsin, fostering culture within our region.

The Mabel Tainter Memorial Theater was constructed in 1889 as a tribute to Mabel Tainter, a young woman who loved music and the arts. Mabel passed away in 1886 at the age of nineteen. The Memorial was commissioned by her parents, Captain and Mrs. Andrew Tainter. Captain Tainter was a lumber baron and silent partner with Knapp, Stout, & Co. The facility renamed the Mabel Tainter Center for the Arts, now serves as a performing arts and cultural center. The exterior of the building is constructed of Dunnville sandstone quarried along the Red Cedar River southeast of the present village of Downsview. Harvey Ellis was the architect. In his designs, Ellis included the Moorish style of curved surfaces, a combination of arches, and hand carved details framing the main entrance. The facility is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, is a charter member of the League of Historic American Theatres, and is a designated Wisconsin Historical Marker Site.

The Mabel Tainter was constructed during the grand Victorian era, and no expense was spared. The building includes a lavish 251-seat "crown jewel" Victorian theater. It is a premier example of a restored vintage American theater. The interior of the building contains hand-stenciled walls and ceilings, marble staircase and floors, leaded stained glass windows, walnut and oak woodwork, brass fixtures, and four fireplaces, each built with a different stone or technique.

The theater still contains the original Steere & Turner tracker pipe organ. The organ has a total of 1597 pipes and 28 stops. The pipes range from 2 inches to 16 feet. Although originally water-powered, it was later converted to electric. The organ's restoration began in 1957 and, since then, has been fully restored.

Whether you like it fast or slow, endless outdoor adventures await for the whole family. What adventure will you embark on? Explore the great outdoors & sports that Menomonie has to offer, and get inspired to tap into your adventurous side!

ELK MOUND HILL PARK

Mound Hill Park Castle on Mound Hill offers a panoramic view of the village and surrounding areas. The castle was originally constructed in 1937 to be used as an observation tower, picnic pavilion and later also as a memorial to Dunn County postal employees. The castle stones came from the Downsville quarry, and material also came from a dismantled livery stable in the Village. A historian of the Dunn County Park System said that Indian legend reveals elk once roamed the area, and hunters used the mound to locate herds of elk and buffalo.

HOFFMAN HILLS RECREATIONAL AREA

Climb up the 60-foot observation tower for amazing views! The park features over nine miles of hiking, skiing, and snowshoeing trails, 15 acres of prairie restoration, as well as a one-mile wetland trail. For more information call the Department of Natural Resources at (715) 232-1242

LAKE MENOMIN PARK
Located on the east shore of Lake Menomin was originally part of the Dunn County Health Care Center property. In approximately 1982, Dunn County decided to turn this one hundred and 47 acre parcel into a nature park. In conjunction with the State Department of Natural Resources, approximately 34 acres were converted into native prairie grassland.

CADDIE WOODLAWN HISTORICAL PARK
In 1857 John Woodhouse, with his wife Harriet and their five children, moved from the relative comforts of Boston to 160 acres of rugged Dunn County wilderness. One of the children was Caroline Augusta, who inspired "Caddie Woodlawn" in a book written by her granddaughter, Carol Ryrie Brink. The book won the 1935 Newbery Award for children's literature. It is considered a classic and is still a popular story read by thousands of children throughout the world.

DUNNVILLE STATE WILDLIFE AREA

Commonly referred to locally as the "Dunnville Bottoms," the Dunnville Wildlife Area is a 4,200-acre property located between Menomonie and Durand, bound by the Chippewa River on the south and County Highway Y and 210th Avenue on the North. Habitat on the Dunnville Wildlife Area is quite diverse. Expansive sand beaches are common along the Chippewa River. Moving inland, large areas of flood plain forest are common. Interspersed within this forest environment are backwater sloughs and some rather large openings containing prairie and oak savanna.

Red Cedar State Trail

This 14.5-mile rail trail shadows the steep walls of the Red Cedar Valley from Menomonie to its connection with the Chippewa River State Trail. Along its route, the trail passes through the communities of Irvington, Downsville and the Dunnville State Wildlife Area. The trail passes by prairies, marshland bottoms, forests and farmlands, including sandstone bluffs and other unique rock formations. In the Dunnville Wildlife Area, the Red Cedar State Trail connects to the Chippewa River State Trail. The level grade and limestone surface make this trail suitable for bicyclists, walkers and joggers.

Each bicyclist age 16 or older needs a Wisconsin state trail pass while using the trail. Passes are available at the Menomonie depot trailhead and in Downsville. In winter, seven miles of the Red Cedar State Trail are groomed for skiing from Menomonie to Downsville.

Enjoy the trails year-round with hiking, biking, walking, snowshoeing, and cross-country skiing. Please do not hike, snowshoe, bike or walk pets on snow groomed cross-country ski trails. There are posted designated walking areas of the trails. Visit the WI DNR for more information. Skiers age 16 or older need a state trail pass before using groomed sections of the trail.

LION'S CLUB NATURE TRAIL

Sit on the benches and enjoy nature. Signs indicating tree types are all over the path as a guide to your walk. Sit still on the benches and you might be lucky enough to see the wild whitetails and many other animals right in the heart of town.

The park is annually maintained by the Menomonie Lion's Club. We encourage you to come enjoy a nice walk through the trees and get a close-up look at some of these interesting animals!

CANDLELIGHT SKI

Hot chocolate and a warm fire included. The event is held for walking if there is no snow. Located on Red Cedar State Trail between miles 1 & 2 in Menomonie.

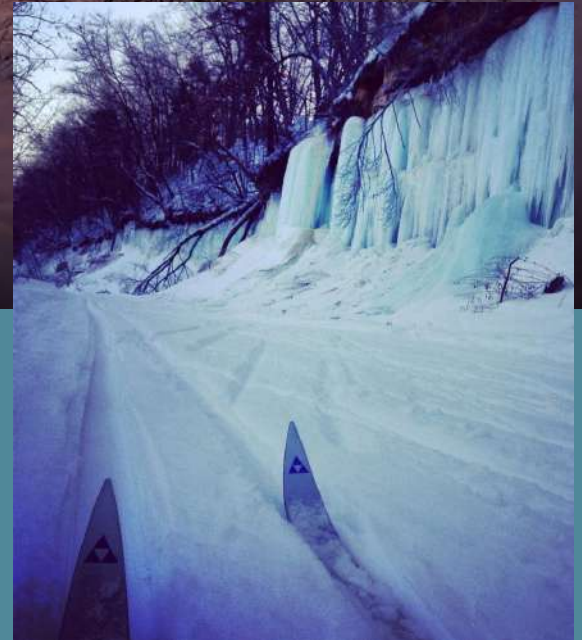

DEVIL'S PUNCHBOWL

In the winter, the water that trickles slowly over (and out of) the Punchbowl's rocky rim is transformed into a curtain of ice. The tableau of massive, overlapping icicles calls to mind the glaciers that shaped so much of Wisconsin's landscape. (In fact, the Punchbowl was formed by post-glacial flooding more than 10,000 years ago.)

DUNN COUNTY SNOWMOBILE CLUBS

Trail grooming is supported by 4 groomers and a number of volunteers operating and maintaining the equipment. Visit dunncountysnow.com for updates, trail status, and maps.
